C.A.T. TOURNIQUET

NORTH AMERICAN RESCUE

Noted as the best prehospital tourniquet in the February 2008 supplement of The Journal of Trauma The C-A-T® is a true one-handed tourniquet proven to be 100% effective by the U.S. Army's Institute of Surgical Research. Tests proved that the C-A-T® completely occluded blood flow of an extremity in the event of a traumatic wound with significant hemorrhage. The C-A-T® utilizes a durable windlass system with a free-moving internal band providing true circumferential pressure to the extremity. Once adequately tightened, bleeding will cease and the windlass is locked into place. A Hook and Loop strap is then applied, securing the windlass to maintain pressure during casualty evacuation. The C-A-T®'s unique dual securing system avoids the use of screws and clips which can become difficult to operate under survival stress or where fine motor skills are compromised. Dimensions: Open Length: 33 in. Weight: 2.7 oz.

MAT MECHANICAL ADVANTAGE TOURNIQUET

PYNG MEDICAL CORPORATION

The Cybertech Mechanical Advantage Tourniquet (MAT) proven to be the fastest, easiest to use and most effective 1-hand tourniquet in military medic training tests. The MAT is the only tourniquet that meets all 12 of the DoD's functional and performance criteria for 1-handed tourniquets. Typical 1-hand application and full occlusion is achieved in under 10 seconds. MATs have been tested in extreme and adverse conditions (where hook and loop -based tourniquets will not work) including: mud and grime submersion, water submersion, sand submersion, oil and sand submersion, extreme cold and ice-encrustment, and high-velocity, hard surface (concrete) impact. Constructed of the highest-quality and durable materials included DuPont Acetel and Nylon 66, to withstand combat-proven impact and extreme temperature ranges (-40° to 200+°F). MATs repeatedly tested to survive 330 lb-ft pull force before component deflection (MATs survived tests with no product or component failure and were reusable with full function). MATs have been repeatedly tested to demonstrated 145 ft-lb compression power generation (approx 3X+ that typically required for blood flow occlusion). MATs have been repeatedly tested to demonstrated 380-503 ft-lb of tensile strength (approx. 9X - 12X typically required for blood flow occlusion) (All strength and power tests were conducted 1/05-2/05 by Stork Materials Testing and Inspection, accredited A2LA to ISO/IEC 17025 and ISO 9002 and NADCAP lab.)

DEFIBRILLATORS & ACCESSORIES

HEARTSTART DEFIBRILLATORS & ACCESSORIES

PHILIPS

PHILIPS HeartStart Defibrillators are designed to be easy to use, rugged and reliable. The Quick Shock feature delivers therapy in just 8 seconds (typical) after chest compressions. Other devices can take 2 or 3 times that, reducing the likelihood of shock success, and potentially, survival. Its high-current/low energy therapy ensures a potent defibrillation dose, while at the same time, minimizing side effects that are harmful to a fragile heart. Every HeartStart Defibrillator goes through a 120 point test before it leaves the factory. On the job, they automatically conduct self-tests every single day. They were built to surpass rigorous testing requirements: jetting water, crushing loads up to 500 pounds and a one-meter drop onto concrete.

POSITUBE ESOPHAGEAL DETECTION DEVICE

PARA PRODUCTS

Inadequate light, loud noises, and other factors can make successful intubation of a patient difficult in the field. Even in a more controlled setting, it's often a challenge to differentiate between the patient's trachea and esophagus. The right angle design of the PosiTube prevents the ET tube from being accidentally dislodged. With PosiTube you can immediately verify proper placement of the endotracheal tube or double lumen airway. You can then oxygenate your patient with complete confidence.

ADULT ADVANCED VENIPUNCTURE AND INJECTION ARM

NASCO HEALTHCARE

This Venipuncture Training Arm provides complete venous access for I.V. therapy and phlebotomy with additional sites for intramuscular and intradermal injections. An extensive eight-line vascular system allows venipuncture at all primary and secondary locations; including starting I.V.'s and introducing I.V. catheters. The dorsal surface of the hand includes Injectable metacarpal, digital, and thumb veins. The antecubital fossa includes the median cephalic, median basilica, and median cubital veins. Venipuncture can also be performed along the basilic, cephalic, accessory cephalic, and median antebrachial veins. Intramuscular injections may be performed in the deltoid muscle, and intradermal injection sites are located in the upper arm. Intramuscular injections into the deltoid muscle are enhanced by the soft, lifelike skin and by the natural bony landmarks in the region. Using distilled water, intradermal injections will create characteristic skin welts at designated sites on the upper arm. The soft, flexible fingers and bendable wrist helps develop manipulation skills. The replaceable skin rolls as the veins are palpated and a discernible "pop" is felt when entering the veins. Simulated veins and skins are completely replaceable to keep this training arm looking and working like new. AMBU® I.V. TRAINER

AMBU

Ambu® I.V. Trainer is meant for training insertion of cannulas and catheters, infusion of fluids, injection of medication, blood-sampling and pulse measurement. Replaceable skin and veins are made of natural latex, which features hole closure after penetration, extending the lifetime of the arm. The fluid reservoir is built into the training arm, avoiding a separate reservoir taking up space. The valve system reduces the formation of air pockets in blood vessels. The indicator panel represents each blood vessel, giving immediate feedback if e.g. an infusion is correct.

PEDIATRIC VENIPUNCTURE AND INJECTION ARM

NASCO HEALTHCARE

The Pediatric Venipuncture Training Arm allows venous access and intramuscular injection techniques and procedures used in young children. This model provides a realistic sensation and response, reproduced using the arm of a six year old child. The life-like vinyl skin rolls as you palpate to allow location of the vein and the synthetic rubber tubing used for the veins was selected to provide a life-like simulation of vein size, and feeling of puncture and palpation for practicing. Soft foam is used to simulate the deltoid muscle and offers the practice of administering intramuscular injections. Simulated veins and skins are completely replaceable to keep the training arm looking and working like new. To extend the life of the veins, an aerosol sealant is available to seal punctures and prevent leakage. Under normal use, hundreds of injections may be performed before the veins or skins need to be replaced. NASCO HEALTHCARE

The Life/form® I.V. Injectable Training Arm is available in a version that connects to the right arm socket of CPARLENE® and Resusci® Anne™ brand Manikins. The realistic flashback occurs with proper insertion, and the arm pivots at the elbow for easy accessibility to antecubital fossa, along the forearm, and at the back of the hand. A bony landmark at the shoulder helps identify muscle tissue for intramuscular injections.
